

DCA-Brooke Appreciation Letter

In August 2017, the Brooke project on equine health and welfare completed its work in Dahane Dasht village of Sorkhroad district of Nangarhar province. At this occasion, the local CDC granted the Brooke team an appreciation letter for successfully accomplishing its task.

Translated to English, the letter says:

"DCA-Brooke started the project assisting donkey and horse owners in Sorkhroad district of Nangarhar province in 2012. The project obtained a good number of achievements including training in harness making, training in farrier practices, and providing paravets as well as traditional veterinarians with basic knowledge of equine diseases to pass on to both male and female equine owners. We confirm that the project interventions have affected the beneficiaries positively. Hereby, we convey our best wishes for the DCA and Brooke project and express our appreciation for their loyal work with animal owners.

Malik Muhammad Arbabzai (Head of Village Council)
Malik Wahidullah (Dean of Village)
Muhammad Ishaq (Head of farmers group)"
