World Development Information Day

Tomorrow, 24th of October is World Development Information Day, a day instituted by the UN to draw attention of worldwide public opinion to development problems and the need to strengthen international cooperation to solve them. On this day we want to highlight Search4Dev, the online repository in which many organizations participate.

Please visit www.search4dev.nl and see what this repository has to offer. Identify the information you need by keyword searching or browse through the themes mentioned below.

- o Agriculture and Rural Development
- o Culture, Society and Religion
- o Development Cooperation General
- o Economic Development and Trade
- o Education, Science and Technology
- o Environment and Natural Resources
- o Health and Nutrition
- o Humanitarian Assistance
- o Information, Knowledge and Communication
- o Infrastructure, Transport and Urban Development
- o Social and Political Change